extended trip throughout the west says:

"Business in the west is improving and a general feeling of optimism prevails. While beam times are not anticipated, it is felt that the present improvement will continue, although the coming presidential campaign will make for uncertainty.

"In all my experience I have never seen stocks in merchants" hands as low as they are at the present time. Retailers have been buying from hand to mouth for some time past and with a view of covering only immediate needs. Their shelves are practically bare. In view of this fact it is very surprising that many wholesale houses

"It is also surprising to learn that a feeling of hostility is growing in the west against the government's anti-trust policy. The Standard Oil and tobacco suits met with popular favor, but the steel suit is not approved, and if the government's present policy is continued, the administration will less many western votes in the next cam-LOST—Brown and white pointer wearing nickel trimmed leather collar.

MARKETS

Firm, but Recede; Oats Weaken

New York, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The bear movement, which has been in progress most of the week, was carried further today and the stock market was under pressure almost continually during the morning. The approach of the assembling of congress restricted buying and consistent support was given to the attack on the list.

Maintenance of a comparatively high rate for call money which opened at 5 percent, also contributed to the market's weakness.

Stocks lost more ground in the second hour. Delaware & Hudson lost 1½, Consolidated Gas 1½, and Rending, Lehigh Valley, Great Northern proferred and Missouri Pacific one. A raily of over a point in St. Paul gave the buils some courage and they bit up the rest of the important stocks about half a point. Bonds were steady. Speculation was exceedingly dull between 12 and 1 octock and fluctuations were nominal. Prices averaged a large fraction below Wednesday.
